

State of the Art Appliances for Africa's Tallest Building

Siemens appliances incorporate innovative technology, are brilliantly engineered and inspire a life less ordinary when used in your everyday lifestyle.

In order to ensure the apartments at The Leonardo, Sandton's latest iconic building, were equipped with only the best appliances, Siemens was the brand of choice.

Every apartment was specified with state of the art Siemens built-in appliances, ranging from ovens and hobs to integrated dishwashers and refrigeration.

Technology that Empowers

Owners of The Leonardo apartments will discover the vast range of Siemens technologies, inherent in every home appliance, and experience the household as they know it, but revolutionised. From the kitchen to the laundry, Siemens' innovative technologies make the home smarter, more intuitive and more self-sufficient than ever before.

Design Aesthetics

Rated as Germany's number 1 home appliance brand, Siemens has always stood for pioneering innovations and proven German engineering. Their technologies and exclusive design are inspired by urban lifestyle and developed to the highest standards. The look of the appliance is considered just as important as the technological elements and Siemens appliances are known for their clean lines and modern aesthetic, melding perfectly with contemporary design.

Transforming the Home, Simplifying Life

The introduction of Siemens home appliances irrevocably changed the way households were run around the world. From the beginning of the 20th century,

Siemens not only pioneered breakthrough technologies in home appliances but have always been one step ahead but has always anticipated the need of the consumer and delivering solutions that made life simpler, more efficient, and extraordinary.

Seamless Life

In a Seamless Life everything works the way you want and expect it to, and the way you are managing it leads you to the next, life-enhancing experience. This is enabled by connected technologies that help you manage the complexities of everyday life for more control, self-optimisation and freedom. Living a Seamless Life with Siemens Home Appliances is about recognising that this enhanced lifestyle is a result of intelligent and inspiring behaviour and technology, aiming for continued excellence.

Award Winning Design

Siemens Home Appliance's dedication to design excellence was richly rewarded in 2020, winning numerous iF Design Awards, German Design Awards and Iconic Awards.
